Countdown number. Click to launch the timer. Download Military Deployment Countdown Windows Mac Johannesburg, South Africa - December 16th, 2006 - Yahoo! Search Marketing has released a new widget to its marketing partners' networks today, further extending their ability to deliver relevant information to consumers. Designers, developers and marketers now have the opportunity to leverage the Yahoo! Search Marketing platform's innovative location services, which allow them to build customized Web widgets that can be placed in specified locations on a Web page. Users simply click on a widget and can then view an instant breakdown of the complete size and location of a Web site, including traffic patterns, total number of visitors and other key metrics. The information displayed is remarkably comprehensive and has been proven to be a rich source of unmatched information. The numbers presented by the widget are accurate to within a few hundred pixels, which makes the information incredibly valuable to digital marketers. For example, marketers are now able to measure the effectiveness of their pay-per-click campaigns and identify the most profitable keywords in their campaigns. Since these figures are unrivaled in their accuracy, marketers can easily separate out traffic from the same keyword but based on where the traffic is coming from. "We are providing our marketing partners more ways to effectively deliver relevant information to consumers," said Myre Sanford, vice president and general manager of search marketing. "The location-aware widget will prove incredibly valuable to marketers who are looking for more data than they can get from their web analytics, and the ability to control the location of the widget is also extremely important." Yahoo! Search Marketing will be launching a series of widgets throughout the year that are well suited to various needs. This includes a widget for fashion and retail marketers, which will allow those companies to view sales trends for their products, allow them to track their e-commerce activity and track shoppers as they move around the Web. Business Web widget, on the other hand, allows brands to build a Web presence and track visitor behavior over time by generating detailed stats that are relevant to advertisers. About Yahoo! Search Marketing: Yahoo! Search Marketing (YSM) is the unified marketing platform that helps digital marketers at leading Web sites connect with the majority of search-driven traffic on the Web through innovative paid and unpaid search advertising formats, owned content partnerships and unique paid and free content. The YSM initiative provides Web sites with an integrated, comprehensive set of services and tools that optimize

What's New in the Military Deployment Countdown?

The "Military Deployment Countdown" widget allows you to count down remaining days, hours, minutes and seconds before a Military deployment, school graduation or other event. This useful widget shows remaining days, hours, minutes and seconds, and is ideal for preparing for impending events. The widget is fully customizable using the Widget Preferences panel, thus you can easily change or add your own description and event date. Military Deployment Countdown is available for Windows Vista, 7, 8 and Windows 10. Drupal users should be able to purchase and/or download content, complete accounts and create Groups or Sub-Groups, all with a similar ease and efficiency as expected on the Web. The entire interface should be free of charge, and it shouldn't result in the introduction of new user fees (for features we've already had). This new user experience is called Drupal Commerce, the goal being to create a centralized method for users to either buy or access content on the web. It also offers users the ability to migrate their content across site environments, as well as the option to buy their content on-demand from the user who created it. Drupal Commerce is built on the principles of extensibility, flexibility and ease of use. It offers many new features, features new and old users can't use before, and it remains free for all users. In the process of creating Drupal Commerce, the site is migrating away from Drupal 6, and adopting Drupal 7 for its backend. The purpose is to replace the existing content and account management with Drupal Commerce, and to re-architect all of the site's existing content to support the new system. The entire site will be migrated and implemented over several months. yandex.com is a robust free search engine that saves users precious time on desktop and mobile, by delivering instant Web-crawler technology and by implementing a highly sophisticated indexing method.
