Click-N-Type Portable - Program for typing on your display, without the need for a physical keyboard. The Promo Clipboard Tool allows you to save and recall images from the clipboard, as well as create your own clips that you can later paste into another window. The software will save the images you copy from the clipboard to the desktop, allowing you to access them in any given window. Aside from this, the application can create your own clips using the symbols and images from the clipboard. Its interface is minimalistic and intuitive, since there's no clutter on the screen. This application comes with a few features that will make it easier to use, such as a scroll bar to navigate the content you copied, a shortcut that will let you access the clip you just created without having to open a new window, or a simple button that will help you save and recall your clip. Aside from this, it's also possible to right-click on any element in order to set a hotkey that will trigger the action of the corresponding button in the application, which is a nice feature that any user should find useful. The program can be used in a variety of ways. If you're looking for an easy way to save images from the desktop, you'll want to try this program out. I'm a writer.
