You are a low-level adventurer traveling to the city of Tamarind Vale, a place of excitement and new experiences. You've never had anything more than a few hours to explore, and now you've got a whole realm to see! But that's no time to rest, and now that your journey has crossed the threshold to the deeper levels of Tamarind Vale, you're not going to stop until you've seen it all! The adventure starts right here! {WELCOME_HEADER} Welcome to Tamarind Vale. The second-largest urban community in the Kingdom of Dylith sits on the far eastern shore of the Shepach Sea. This pleasant town has a large population of wealthy merchants, and today you're among them. There's a party to join, and there are bounties to collect, so make sure you get out there and claim the rewards before they're all taken! {MAP_TITLE} Like the name implies, this is where you get to show off what you've learned. The map title will appear on the map when you enter this dungeon! {DUNGEON_ICON} {WELCOME_DIALOG} Welcome to Tamarind Vale! Are you looking for a relaxing place to take a vacation from your adventures? You've come to the right place. This is a safe and welcoming city, and a wonderful place to relax while the world turns. {NEW_DIALOG} You're here in the dungeons, so you must be looking for work. But before you dive into the depths, let me set the stage. Tamarind Vale is a beautiful city built on the cliffs along the Shepach Sea. The foothills of the Northern Mountains, which stretch into the clouds in the far north of the kingdom, surround the city, creating a barrier that keeps the sea from invading the city. It's beautiful, but it's also very dangerous. Thick, ancient roots flow deep under the city, creating a network of dangerous traps. Since most places are mapped extensively to prevent those traps, and to make it easier to spot any monsters that might be hunting the adventurers that explore this dungeon, most of the city above ground is mapped in excruciating detail. But this is the east end, where the city gets its heat. There's a very special reason why adventurers like you are getting work here. And it's the reason you've c9d1549cdd

What's new:

The 2014 FMC, thanks to our good friend Wilco, will take place in Florence, Italy from the 15th to 23rd of September. Want to hear more about it? Keep on reading ... Like last year, Italian design studio Bragi is taking care of matters in terms of a technological front - here is a bit of context: In 2014 Bragi's view on multifunctional mobile phones became sharper and reality, vision became stronger, observation become wider, the way of design became clearer and tension between technological and creative freedom achieved its peak. The talent of people, born after transhumanism, materialist aesthetics, complex futuristic design, perpetual motion movements, suddenly found its grounds. That's definitely a good start to paint a picture. We will be staying there and planning our club participation along with some friends who are going to travel there to play several sports. The FMC will take place in this year's Unplugged Split Squats. The official schedule of the event is now available on the Unplugged Split Squats website. You can download it here. Check the entry fees here. The official schedule Navigation through the various events has always been a tricky process for the visitors, and we definitely think that this year the location of the FMC will make this even trickier. This year the expo will be part of the event, and as it will take place near the Quirinale, the entrance to the expo is going to be at the Piazzale San Martino. Here it is on a googlemap: One of the worst scenarii The organizers are particularly careful when organizing events this year. The final location is not out yet for one of the two big parties of the FMC event, and the Vespucci Arena may find itself in a difficult spot: A narrow and particularly complicated route should be travelled by participants to reach the expo from the Tamburi Piazza. Behind the Vespucci Arena, the route crosses the Segno di Guerra (Insignia of War) square, with bad lights and bad weather. Further on there are sunken roads and 3 narrow sharp turns. We really hope that the event organizers will manage to put works to settle this situation. If you are going to stay in Wuhan city at least during the event, you should definitely have a look at some of Kitama looks just like your typical game from this generation and that's what makes it awesome! Kitama: Silent Sinner, also known as Killer7, is a 2D stealth action game developed by the small independent studio Doki Doki Maji de Allote. The game was inspired by a manga called 'A Silent' and 'A Game of Killing' written by a French artist named Mathieu Bénard (aka, Maji de Allote). Kitama was released back in 2012 and it has achieved over 100,000 downloads to this date. Kitama was recently featured on Indie Gaming's Top 10 games of 2012 list, and has since been downloaded by over 500,000 gamers around the globe. Kitama, as the studio claims, was inspired by the popular Japanese game, Katamari Damacy. The game is about a bunch of people who don't know each other who, all at the same time and for different reasons, want to kill the head of the weird cult the cult leader belongs to.

Kitama: Silent Sinner's Story: Oren, formerly a prominent psychiatrist, has been pushed to insanity. His borderline personality disorder and his mastery on the arts of manipulation has taken him to become the leader of a violent cult, who wants to take over a spooky asylum where he imprisoned a former patient named Sophie. Sophie isn't a criminal anymore. She has long since been cured. She's now an innocent victim, living in the asylum and trapped there by Oren and his crazy cult. The only way to get Sophie out is for one of them to die. Oren insists on killing himself first, whilst Sophie escapes. You, KI-TAMA, are the only remaining candidate. You must run and hide until the cult leader dies - and as soon as he dies, you must choose one of his followers to kill, so Sophie can be free. PRAISE: "One of the deepest and most satisfying games ever created." - The Official PlayStation Magazine "Incredibly immersive and polished. You will replay this game for sure." - Indie Game Magazine "A hidden gem." - Gameplanet "Bold, daring, and unlike anything else that's currently out there." - Game Informer Thrilling soundtrack and great art
