It is found in most of Europe, except most of the East Palearctic Zone. The wingspan is 10–17 mm. Adults are on wing from the end of June to the end of August in two generations per year in most of Europe, and in early May in Britain. The larvae feed on Festuca species. Or better say, I have a blog to run on Apache (PHP) and another backend in Node.js (app.js). The PHP is fully running on an IIS server. Currently I can clear cookies from app.js, but I was wondering if it was possible to clear/unset ALL cookies on the PHP? Thanks A: Yes, it's possible. It might require a bit of a workaround however. If the domain you're using to load the PHP script is the same as the domain of your application, you could use $_SERVER['REMOTE_ADDR'] as an identifier. In PHP, however, it's not possible to get the remote IP address, but there's a simple workaround: function get_remote_ip() { if (false === stripos('. $_SERVER['REMOTE_ADDR']. ',', ':')) return '*'; $ip = ''; foreach (explode(':', $_SERVER['REMOTE_ADDR']) as $part) if (preg_match('/^\d+(?:\.\d+){3}$/', $part))

Lily Leak and Josh Rennie, 27 and 27, from the Newcastle-upon-Tyne area, have been in treatment for three years in the hope of conceiving naturally. But after years of trying to conceive, Josh says he has been told he has a fertility problem, and the couple, who have been married for six years, have been given a stark message: "We can't give you a baby." Lily said: "I thought there would be some sort of 'ah ha' moment where we would be told what was wrong and how to fix it, or that it is out of our hands. "I'm quite a hopeful and positive person but I found it hard to take that diagnosis." The couple, who have been married for six years, said: "I found myself panic-stricken for a while, thinking if it was true, how would I cope and how would we cope? "I started looking around the internet as it was the only thing that was available - there wasn't really any information out
