The game of Pure Hold'em is an exciting new card game based on the popular World Series of Poker format. The game allows you to play against a dealer who deals cards to the other players, who then compete to win the pot. You can play against the dealer or against other players. Pure Hold'em gameplay is fast paced and played in a five card face-down round, a seven card round with 'blinds', which are temporary hidden bet amounts, and three additional betting rounds. Rules: -There are a total of nine card pots that are made up of five cards, -Pots are spread across three betting rounds -Prizes are awarded to players finishing in the highest position at the end of each betting round -You always bet before the dealer does -There is a bidding system that allows a player to raise bets, -You can decide whether to continue playing after you get all your cards -There are two betting rounds, blinds and the first round -The blinds change with each round until the last, -Players can win more than one prize in the same round, -There are bonuses for being in the best five, the best ten and the best thirty -You can exchange cards for prizes and bonuses, -You can score cards to allow you to play for more money, -You can refuse to take a card -You can abandon a hand -Players can repeat bets -The game of Pure Hold'em is suitable for beginners, but is also fast and exciting Feature: We've upgraded the internal processor, which gives a smoother gameplay experience. There is also an additional draw enhancement to improve AI. The minimum bet is 50 credits while the maximum bet is

100 credits. Free Download of Pure Hold'em - Hamilton Card Deck By clicking on the download link, you are confirming that you accept the terms of our EULA and the Privacy Policy. Co-Op: Single Player Game. You play Turret solo against AI adversaries and AI friendlies. Factions: There are many different factions in Turret. Each faction changes the name of the machines (normally the enemy) that you will face in battle. Game Modes: There are many different game modes in Turret. You can solo the game, you can play co-op with other Turret players from all across the world, or you can do a head-to-head battle in PVP game modes. Recruit: Recruit players into your faction. You select your faction and you are given the chance to recruit them, using their skills and means. Once they join you you are given the honor of naming them into your chosen faction. Armory: The Turret arty system works just like in real life. You create your own in game gear with weapons and Turret vehicles. You can make your own gear or just buy pre-made gear in the Turret Armory. Vehicles: There are many different vehicles to choose from in Turret. There are tanks, jet sky vehicles, hovercrafts, and many other vehicles. Each vehicle has different functionality and stats so you can select the ones that suit your style of play. In-Game: Turret has many features unique to this game. You can do almost anything in the game, from shooting other Turret players, to selecting your faction, to attacking enemies, to taking on the leaderboards. Social: If Turret really is as addictive as its creators claim then you will be playing a lot of it. Turret has an in-game chat system, so you can connect with other players from all around the world and find friends to join and help you in battle. Artificial Intelligence: Turret has a modern Artificial Intelligence system that is unique to this game. Battlefields: Battle fields are artificial terrain that you can place around the world. The battle fields work just like the world in Turret and you can battle just like it does in real life. Each battle field can have multiple battle fields so you can battle with whatever system you like. Starcraft: Brood War (pronounced "brood war") is a real-time strategy game created by Blizzard Entertainment. The objective of the game is to control a group of units and build up a base from which you can launch an attack to destroy the opposing base. Players use units called "buildings" to construct their base c9d1549cdd

Arid started development in May 2016. The whole game is available for you as I am sharing it here, but other versions with some minor improvement will be released. The project started as a personal experiment. It grew out of a test to achieve what I would like to be a complete game. You know, having a constant robot that is always running, be it a meteorite strike or a water leak. In this game you will live in a space station together with your robot. It is not a lot of fun because of its AI, the world is rather small and there are not that much things to do. This was my solution to that problem: If the AI does not want to play a mission or is not able to do it, the player is in control. There are over 700 missions in this version. Everything you are doing in the game is set by the game system, because there is no real point in doing stuff in the game when your robot is dead. If your robot should die, you should start all over again. That was quite an adventure because there are so many different features in the game. The first prototype was a game where a robot can move and jump, also to throw balls at a target. The prototype of this later became the basis of the real game. A multi-entity game with doors, doors that can be opened and closed, chests with goods inside and doors. When everything is done, is a game of it. The difficulty of the game is the simulation part. It will take roughly a couple of hours to find a solution to the puzzles you will face. With a good and experienced AI the game should not be so hard. A fun part of the game is that you can play this game from home in your phone. The game is available as an App for iPhone and Android. Next to the main game, I am currently working on a space colony with other aspects in it. The colony starts a little bit later, but it is planned to add a space ship and more characters later. The game contains music, sound effects and a moving background. More features will be added as the game progresses. I used the Unity engine to develop the game. The game is also available for all devices and PC. Enjoy the game and always feel free to contact us if you have any suggestion or ideas for improvement. We are always happy to hear them. Cheers and thanks,Aridstudents

Hex Empire III is a science fiction real-time strategy game developed and published by Golden Eye Sp Studios with soon an international publisher. It is a successful game in the Hex Empire series, being a sequel to the previous two games. After the public release of the game in November 2010 the game got rave reviews from many gaming media outlets. The game is available for Windows, Mac OS X and Linux with an expected release of the Linux version in early 2011. Gameplay Story Hex Empire III expands on the setting of Hex Empire II, expanding on the political situation of the world of Composition and on the political and economic situation of Tygar. Several references to Hex Empire II are made in the story. However, most of the name of elements of the game are not re-used. The game opens with Tygar saying that he is retiring as the leader of Tygar and choosing his sister as the successor to succeed to the position as leader of the Tygan Empire. Tygar's son, Polyscia, is chosen as the successor of Tygar's son Purllen and will assume the position as leader of Tygar. After being told by Tygar, Polyscia becomes the leader of Tygar's only city-state and leader of the Empire. Meanwhile, mercenaries being a part of a group of corporate pirates approach Tygar to help him rebel against the Empire in which the mercenaries are allowed to use the name the "Tygan Empire". After a series of events the Imperial forces send out an army to fight against them. However, Polyscia gathers a group of mercenaries of Tygandom and partner companies and leads them to fight against the Imperial army and after a series of events the mercenaries win and claim victory. After the battle all mercenaries and mercenaries of the Imperial forces are disbanded and Tygonom users return to Composition. Tygar and his partner companies meet and begin to develop a plan to prevent the corporate pirates from controlling water. Soon after the Tygan Empire enters into a covert mission to acquire Imperial technology, technology of the Imperial Navy and Imperial Science and Technology Directorate to develop an advanced surveillance and warfare technology so they can destroy the threat of the Tygan Empire. Soon after the project is complete and the Tyganempire and Impex control the Imperial Technology. Unlike the previous games, Hex Empire III features a party system, "Rescue", allowing players to recruit, level up, build and customize characters, and thus boost their stats
