value of inputbox1 is in the correct format. If true, then it will allow a user to use the button.

if((input1.value.match(/^([0-9]{0,4})$/) || (input1.value.match(/^([0-9]{1,2})$/))) { document.querySelector('#form1 button').disabled = false; } I have tried making it so it's not ^([0-9]{0,4})$ and ^([0-9]{1,2})$ but when I do that, nothing happens. My expressions are correct. I have also tried using () instead of {}, which did nothing as well. A: Try for new players as well as appealing to longtime strategy fans.8.4/10 Games Republic Graphically very impressive and presents a game that looks and feels like a sci-fi 4X space game should.9/10 Computer And Video Games It's a very elegant and smart game that will take you some time to enjoy and absorb.8/10 Gaming Nexus It's a brave game to be a 4X game, being in a genre that seems to have lost its way after being pushed away from the throne by CIV 2 and XCOM.8.4/10 GamesRadar The game is a beautifully nostalgic throwback, but has enough of a forward-leaning vision that the resulting package feels fresh and relevant.9/10 The Independent Simple yet deep game that features plenty of buildable units, multiple terrains and alien races for players to conquer.8.4/10 GameZone It has a really fun tactical component and somewhat political gameplay that rewards players for using diplomacy and other non-military strategies.8.5/10 PC Power User It has a strategic depth that doesn't feel arbitrary, and not of the "l33t h4ck3r" variety, but one that actual fans of the genre can appreciate.9/10 Hardware It's a very good game by any standard, and puts Civilization in a whole new light.9/10 Ace Game Keys A great turn-based 4X and the best one you have played in a long time.9/10 Overview: Civilization games are not new. I am fairly new to Objective-C and am trying to learn about a few different things. Welcome to Bookworm Keep! You have always loved reading books... but you also have responsibilities. The keep must be built as soon as possible, and your friends in the guild need you to bring in books. The keep will be your home, and you will be the keeper of the books. Bookworm Keep is a game in which you move around the board aiming to collect books from your friends. You can even host your own book fair! You start the game with two boards of 5 rooms each, and gain access to a third board after reaching 40 books. You collect books by placing a book in the room on the board. You can freely move between rooms, and the game continues until you reach 500 books on all boards. Bookworm Keep is a game about building the most epic library ever! Go ahead, and make yourself at home in Bookworm Keep... Story: Ever since the turn of the millennium, the world has gone dark. With places like internet forums shut down, and books, art and entertainment disappearing, the future looked bleak for those who loved books. The town of Mineral Needle, however, had a plan to save the world of books. As you know, we are in desperate need of a library! So they decided to build a giant library that's better than anything ever before, and they called it Bookworm Keep! To be honest, they didn't know what would happen when they started building it, but since it's all thanks to this fun little game they would never know! Games: A game based on books. All the game elements are based on the types of books that are in the bookshelf. Some books have the letter D, meaning they're harder to collect. Some books have the number of pages, which means they'll take longer to collect. Some have both letters and numbers, like a code, meaning you'll need to move multiple books to collect them. Books read in-game: There's 46 books which are all related to the theme of Bookworm Keep! I have even included my summary for each of them. Classes: You can choose to be an Anomaly, who collects books of all types, or a Bibliophile, who collects books with the letter B. Gameplay: The objective is to build the longest bookshelf in
