I dont want the music industry to get this type of support and feel that the licenses above are the best fit for the community. I would like to see a "use as is" license that will allow for use of the artist and their label/music collective. Similar to the license given to the external community. Also, perhaps in the future, a community license is ok as well. I want to be clear, the licensing that is discussed on this website does not represent the intentions of this community. We are an organization that is bringing tools to the artists and ensuring that the music industry can utilize them as they see fit. The music industry is going down one path and we believe that they are limiting the creative freedom of the music community. If we want support from the music industry, we should be able to demonstrate that our projects have the support of the music industry and are working with them. Also, feel that we could be better served under a different license model, one that will ensure long term support. The benefit of enabling artists and labels to use our software free of charge would be huge. Also the fact that the artwork will still be embedded would be huge as well. I would like to have a community license for our music. If it is okay with the music community, we would like to have the option to have the artwork embedded in the software. There should be no cost for licenses. I would like the option to

Here's my code: from nltk.corpus import stopwords stop_words = [x for x in stopwords.words('english')] def replace_stops(i, words): for word in words: i.replace(word, word.lower() in stop_words) I've tried to use.loc() but it didn't work. Thank you A: i.replace() is returning None because you set i = 'abc' You can fix it like this: i = i.replace(word, word.lower() in stop_words) Or just inline the replacement itself: i = i.replace(word, word.lower() in stop_words) Q: How many carbon atoms are in an ethyl group? I need to find out how many carbon atoms are in the ethyl group, and I'm not sure whether it's a $2
