Puzzle time! Avoid the explosion (or turn it to your advantage...) and destroy all the houses on the map with one of 50+ increasingly difficult puzzles! To solve some of the best puzzles you will have to understand the underlying mechanic - in many cases, it's as easy as rotating the whole house 180 degrees. For some, there will be a hint system, for others there will be a screen with instructions. But whatever happens, you will need to carefully think about the problem and come up with an appropriate solution - your job and your imagination will be the limit! What will you be solving? - Some of the 50+ puzzles will require more than one solution. Your creative options will be severely tested. ~Workshop~ Inspired by the best of flash games, the game contains a very customisable workshop, where you can change: -> The number of options for each puzzle (4-16) -> The music and sound effects -> The number of moves for every puzzle (2-8, also random) -> The color of every element of the puzzle -> The time to solve the puzzle (1-100 seconds) -> The length of the menus

When done, please rate it well and share it with your friends! :D Apart from that, just like in flash games, you will have 2-4 levels per week, and you will unlock them all when you complete them. Animated, dynamic and bright, Explosion™ takes advantage of Godot, a versatile animation engine, specifically designed for games.

Comic Book - A Story Mode Story Mode is a narrative-driven comic book game, inspired by the 1980s games from Bitmap. A story of cinematic love of superheroes, spies, adventures and feminism, accompanied with funny and unpredictable dialogues. You will play as Alisa, a young schoolgirl with extraordinary powers, forced to search for her friends after their school bus explodes. Developed in Unity 4 and Paper, a game template that allows you to work very quickly. Game Source Code is free to use, just with some restrictions... Controllers The game uses the arrow keys to move and use the camera. Press space to jump, the control stick to change camera orientation and use the mouse to look around the environment. Music Sound effects will be displayed as synthesized audio, created with Opus PCM format. Alisa A young, albeit small, sprite for AI

Features Key:

- Advance On dice rolling with changing colors and number of coins.
- Tutorials and a risk based leader board to feed your ego.
- Double score for lucky players with more coins.
- Easy to use interface for any device.
- Much more.....

Fantasy is about to begin! Fate - what is your destiny? The secret of a land called "Mystery" where there is nothing and no one - and the end...of the world is about to begin. Yet, only one man will turn out to be the answer to this mystery. His name is

Seika Izumi. A young man who was born in this dark and cruel world, one who lost his parents and was brought up by hard people. He once sought to love. But now he has come to the end... You, Seika, has disappeared. "From now on, nothing can be the same." A world with an empty face turns on itself and begins to cry. From LoveKami - Divinity Stage, here are the two soundtrack songs! The first song is "Start Line" "Start Line" by Xellos Want more? Check out the websites below: comprehensive communication system, which includes a computer with a modem, should support the large variety of voice and data services already in existence and will have to support many different data services in the future. The integrated services digital network (ISDN) is an example of a system that supports many different services. The backbone network of ISDN is currently limited to support point-to-point (PPP) connections. As far as PPP connections are concerned, the ISDN system does not distinguish between the user and the terminal equipment. That is, a single ISDN line and data connection can support a plurality of terminal equipment, each having its own ISDN connection with the central office. Also, each terminal may control the movement of the ISDN data over multiple ISDN data channels to the terminal. For example, a terminal may have its ISDN connection to the central office established in a "half-duplex" mode to transfer data at a slower rate on a first data channel and a higher rate on a second data channel. The customer may also have the option of paying for a connection that supports full-duplex ISDN connection to increase the data rate. Typically, PPIs call the customer's central office and send the calling number to the network control unit (NCU) of the ISDN c9d1549cdd

What's new in PAYDAY 2: San Martín Bank Heist:

Roll the Dice Saturday, May 2, 2011 This past summer, Tony and I attended our fourth year of OSAGE FEST (Ohio Renaissance Festival). The memories of last year have been replaced by fondness as we both found the time to attend this fantastic and relaxing event. This year was filled with many highlights and downsides that Tony and I can happily share. First and foremost, we can report that the heat was incredible all-year long. As an avid desert dweller who's spent many a weekend in the Colorado Rockies, I can safely say that Ohio was extremely warm. In most places, the temperature would be high in the 70s and low in the 50s at night. This was comparable to the hottest days we experienced in other northern cities. One week in July, the temperature was even in the 90s and we needed to pack an air-conditioner. The relentless heat also made organization a big issue for us; we drove to the event on Ohio highways for about 140 miles one way. We chose that weekend because the weather was hotter (upper 80s) than the next forecasted weekend (upper 70s). That said, we were so happy to be there! This year, the weather wasn't exactly their best though; the wind and rain flooded the grounds several times. We checked the weather every half hour to see if a storm was coming. At one point, I was lying on my back strolling through the oasis area because I thought the cold wind was more tolerable than the stagnant heat. But then the wind pushed me from the shelter of a tent and picked me up like a rag doll. I got pitched into a rain barrel where I was soaking wet when the storm passed. Tony eventually found me and dragged me safely to the stage. At my age, I don't want to complain of a lack of energy anymore. Still, there were far more events that were "let-down" moments for me, than were simply pleasant memories. Those "let-downs" kept me from experiencing a level of satisfaction that I really wanted that I felt last year. I am vague and wish to leave that out of this summary, but last year, I enjoyed myself. This year, I spent some "quality" time with our daughter, but the rest of the time, I spent the least amount possible. I was disappointed that I was less focused on experiencing historical recreations of normalcy and more focused on consuming the overpriced "cool
